Description of Faculty Support and Development Activities

Faculty Scholar for Teaching and Learning

Don Stearns, Ph.D.

Faculty Scholar for Teaching and Learning 2020-2021, available to all faculty for discussion, assistance, observations or questions you may have about pedagogy, your classes or your students. Please contact the Faculty Scholar for Teaching and Learning directly for one-on-one interactions. He will also be scheduling “Lunch and Learn” sessions each semester. The Center for Teaching, Learning and Research (lower level of the library) houses resources for teaching and learning and is available for any faculty to use individually or in groups.

The Center for Teaching, Learning and Research

Don Stearns, Ph.D. - Director

This Center is available for all faculty (Associated, Full Time, Adjunct and others interested from the Wagner Community). It can serve for official meetings, for events, and for quiet reflection. The Faculty Scholar for the Center for Teaching, Learning and Research schedules meetings and events in the Center. Please note that the Center has a library of resources around teaching, learning and assessment. It also houses the current issues of the Chronicle of Higher Education. The key is always available at the front desk of the library for any faculty member, or group of faculty to use.

Tenure and Promotion Information Workshop-Open to Everyone/Mandatory for Faculty up for Tenure, Promotion and Second and Fourth Year Reappointment

Faculty Personnel Committee (FPC) - September 8, 2020, 4:20 pm, Zoom

This session will focus on the expectations and standards that Wagner has established for successful completion of promotion and tenure. The Chair of FPC will facilitate this workshop. They will base the discussion on the promotion and tenure policies as articulated in the Faculty Handbook, 17th edition. This session will be interactive allowing participants time for questions and answers.

Promotion and Tenure Assistance

Dr. Nicholas Richardson, Associate Provost, is available to assist in reviewing promotion and tenure materials. He is not involved in the personnel process or decision making, but is available for feedback as candidates for promotion or tenure debate their materials. Examples of previous successful portfolios are housed in the center for Teaching, Learning and Research.

Scholarship Circles (By Application)

October 14, 2020, 12:30 pm, Zoom

This session provides support for faculty who are interested in receiving support and feedback on their research, their writing, their time management and their exploration of appropriate publication outlets.

Grant Writing Workshop Waiting for Chris to give me dates.

September 16, 2020, 12:30 pm, Zoom

This interactive session is designed for any campus member who is interested in pursuing grant funding. The session answers the following questions: Where can I find grant funding sources? Who on campus can help me seek appropriate funding agencies? How do I begin writing a successful grant? What do I need to know about building a grant budget? What are Wagner's expectations about grant writing and funding?

Faculty Development Funds

The application for Faculty Aid is on the website:
