Dear Colleagues:

The Spring 2020 semester at NSB presented unprecedented challenges. The campus was forced to close after the Spring Break because of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Despite the difficulties both Students and Faculty rose to the occasion and quickly transitioned to online teaching utilizing the school’s technology and video conferencing to deliver classes. This presented challenges to students who were in different time zones, nevertheless all classes were completed, students kept to their schedules and seniors graduated as planned.

Although more difficult than normal students still accomplished a great deal in addition to their formal studies. Many students were able to complete their internships remotely, as well as producing excellent scholarship.

Faculty and Administration are working diligently to enable a safe reopening of the campus for the Fall Semester.

We hope you enjoy reading about the current accomplishments of NSB and look forward to hearing from all stakeholders.

Respectfully

NSB Faculty

Dr. Peg Horan retires

Margaret “Peg” Horan joined the Wagner business administration faculty in 1980.

Over four decades, she taught and mentored accounting students, many of whom have gone on to successful careers. She advised student organizations, served on a number of College committees, directed the graduate program in accounting, and brought her knowledge to the general public through a weekly column that was published in the Staten Island Advance. She served as the faculty marshal for the 2017 commencement.

Peg, is a full Professor at Wagner, She earned her Doctor of Professional Studies degree from Pace University, her MBA from Wagner College and her bachelor’s degree from St. Francis College.

She is also a CPA and started her career at Peat, Marwick Mitchell (now KPMG). Many Wagner students will remember her and the passion she brought to the subject. Many former students have returned to Wagner as visiting lecturers or adjuncts, a testament to the inspiration she generated.

Peg produced a prodigious body of research and was awarded the Wagner Scholarship Award in 2019.

Peg will leave a big gap and will be missed by students, faculty and administration. We wish her well in her retirement.
Dr. Mills was appointed inaugural Interim Dean of the Nicolais School of Business in 2018.

As Dean, he introduced several innovations including the Executive in Residence, which featured among others Mr. Robert Mazur, Wagner Graduate, undercover drug agent, expert on money laundering and inspiration for the movie “The Infiltrator”. Mazur was featured in Wagner Magazine Summer 2010. Mills also introduced the “Saturday Series”, presentations by Wagner Alumni on their professional lives, where students were exposed to real world problems and situations and given the opportunity to network with successful graduates of Wagner.

Having completed his assignment at Wagner, Dr Mills, has taken on the role of Interim Dean, Eberly College of Business and Information Technology, Indiana, Pennsylvania.

Dr. Jeffrey Kraus, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs, will take on the additional role of Interim Dean of NSB in the Fall Semester.

Faculty Training

Faculty continued a series of seminars on Effective Use of Case Teaching in Business Curricula.

Dr Paul Thurman, Graduate School of Business, at Columbia University, led the sessions.

The sessions were as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Session</th>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Date</th>

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Session 3</td>
<td>The Case Method of Teaching and Learning</td>

<td>November 2019</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Session 3</td>
<td>Integrating Cases into Existing Courses</td>

</tbody>

Unfortunately the fourth session had to be cancelled due to the pandemic.

Sample cases discussed ranged from “Alan Kendricks at Cardiology Associates” Harvard Business School, a case about an actor in a film, and “Nespresso: What’s Next?” Case Center, a case about a firm with options for future growth to “Obama and the Power of Social Media and Technology”, Stanford Graduate School of Business, about the Presidential campaign.

The sessions generated considerable discussions and are just one example of how faculty works to remain at the cutting edge of pedagogy in order to give our students the best possible experience at NSB.
Faculty Profile

The Nicolais School of Business welcomed Adjunct Professor William Anderson to the faculty.

Curriculum News: Undergraduate

Happy New Year! The spring 2020 semester began in earnest on January 22nd. Winter weather was cooperative, allowing us to avoid the typical “Snow day” closings.

Then came March... Covid-19 took hold in the United States, more specifically in New York City. As the students were approaching spring break, President Martin announced that we would begin the break a few days early so that students could return home safely.

Pandemonium broke out on campus. It was a mixed bag of emotions. Some students rushed to get home. Others were alarmed by the thought of learning online and sad to leave their friends. Foreign students were concerned about the possibility of not making it home before their country’s borders closed. Planes, trains and automobiles were arranged for the journey home.

During spring break our dedicated faculty worked to swiftly prepare to teach online. With the help of our Information Technology team, we were ready for this new adventure. Remote learning began as a short-term measure, with the hope that we would return to campus later in the semester... but as the virus escalated we completed the balance of the spring semester and summer sessions online. This is not customary for our residential campus filled with undergraduate students who thrive on the spirit of our campus community. Together with our students we successfully overcame the learning and technology obstacles in true Seahawk fashion.

The spring semester is one for the record book! Covid forced us to learn and grow in ways we could not have imagined. Faculty and students remained agile and cooperative, working as a community to make the very best of the situation. What a teaching and learning opportunity! Our students have acquired heightened problem solving, communication and time management skills. This is a proud moment in the history of Wagner College Nicolais School of Business.

We regret not being able to witness the class of 2020 receive their degrees in May, but remain hopeful that one day soon we will celebrate all that our graduates have accomplished.

On behalf of our faculty we wish you and your loved ones good health during this challenging time.

Warm regards,

Nicolais School of Business, Professor of Finance

Marketing Class

Dr. Paul G. Barretta developed changes in course descriptions and curriculum design to make the program more current with contemporary knowledge and practice. These changes will take effect in Fall 2020.

When the COVID-19 Pandemic caused Wagner to discontinue in-person learning, Dr. Paul G. Barretta’s Marketing Research class shifted gears to combine contribution to a non-profit organization with a learning project. Barretta teamed up with the National Independent Venue Association (NIVA) guiding the class of 15 students in web-based research to gather data related to the economic impact of COVID-19 on the industry. Justin Kantor, co-founder of NIVA stated:

I would like to personally thank Wagner College for the event cancellation data collected in Paul Barretta’s Marketing Research class. Extrapolating trends from this data will be and has been beneficial in forecasting both the current state of our industry and future predictions. One easy prediction for me to postulate is that Wagner College will be unleashing a new breed of much needed music data wizards into our industry.

Dr. Paul G. Barretta’s Marketing Research class participated in the Bonner Grant Program by working with Wagner’s Center for Leadership and Community Engagement conducting a qualitative research study to measure and analyze motivations for and against participating in civic engagement throughout the Wagner Community. The results will be utilized by CLCE to conduct a quantitative study to gather data on a wider scale, possibly presented through future conferences or academic journal articles.
Faculty & Staff: News and Accolades

Dr. Paul G. Barretta has been named a 2020-21 Robinson Family Fellow. The accompanying grant will provide access to data for Barretta to continue his research on the Color (Race) Line in the American Music Market, as well as other ongoing projects.

Wagner Select

Mentoring Wagner’s Elite Students

With access to a network of more than 25,000 alumni, Wagner College students have a tremendous opportunity built into their college experience at the outset. Similarly, Wagner alumni seeking to hire bright, civic-minded students with strong academic backgrounds need only to look within their own alma mater to find the right candidates. At Wagner, these connections have primarily developed organically, as outcomes of alumni on-campus involvement or through direct contact with departments and the Center for Academic & Career Engagement.

The Wagner Select mentoring program takes the opportunity for student-alumni connections one step further by building on the existing informal process with a competitive process. Within the Wagner Select program, our highest performing students, those in the top 5% to 10%, are rewarded with first-preference access to successful alumni in their chosen industry, and alumni mentors are able to focus their influence and to develop deeper, more profound relationships with students.

The Nicolais School of Business, led by chair Dr. Donald L. Crooks, began this program in the fall of 2016 in partnership with alumna Mary Caracappa-Hurtado ’82, a Wagner Trustee and Morgan Stanley Managing Director. The effort is staffed and supported by Ms. Tara Chiari, Director of the Center for Academic & Career Engagement, and Chris Fourman, Senior College Relations Officer in the Office of Institutional Advancement.

Wagner Select is unique in that each selected student is connected to a “mentor team,” a pair of alumni in their chosen industry who have varying levels of experience: one who is closer to the student’s age group with 3-7 years of experience and one who is a seasoned professional. This allows for a team approach to mentoring and multi-layered connections between alumni and students.

Benefits for Alumni Mentors

- As part of a “mentor team,” alumni mentors also connect with other alumni in their field.
- The competitive process for applying to be a Wagner Select student ensures that the alumni mentor is connected with elite students at Wagner.
- Alumni mentors are staffed and supported by the Office of Institutional Advancement and College Relations.
- Alumni mentors have the opportunity to directly impact a student’s career trajectory, helping them navigate early in their career and, thus, shaping their future.

Benefits for Wagner Select Students

- Wagner Select students graduate with deep connections in their chosen industry.
- Wagner Select students gain a lasting professional resource in their mentor teams and individuals who are invested in their career success.
- Wagner Select students are positioned to succeed early in their careers and can become alumni with distinction.
Expectations

Mentors

Participation

Wagner recognizes that alumni mentors may have varying levels of availability and willingness to participate. All alumni mentors are assigned a Wagner College Relations Officer, Chris Fourman, to ensure that their experience in the Wagner Select program continues to be mutually beneficial. We ask all alumni mentors to commit to participate for one full academic year (August to May). At the end of the academic year, the alumni mentors’ assigned College Relations Officer will connect with them and discuss their mentoring experience. We promise that the mentoring opportunity is on a one-to-one basis, meaning alumni will be assigned one mentee at a time.

Communication

In the spirit of the organic nature of connections that have existed at Wagner, the Wagner Select program does not have a rigid communications requirement. Rather, we encourage each mentor team to create its own agreed-upon mode and frequency of contact between alumni mentor and student. We suggest: monthly check-ins via phone, email, Facetime/Skype; and quarterly or semi-annual (at least once per semester) in-person lunches or coffee. During the year, Wagner will invite all Wagner Select students and mentor teams to an event either on-campus or in Manhattan to reinforce connections.

Influence

We ask our alumni mentors to give their Wagner Select students first preference in available internships or positions at their respective companies, providing that Wagner Select students are ideal candidates for those positions. In some cases, guidance regarding students’ academic program will be part of the discussions, in particular about maintaining GPA and the courses mentees should strive to enroll in to ensure they have the background necessary to succeed in their chosen focus areas. We also ask our alumni mentors to assist and advise our students on the non-academic skill sets required to succeed professionally.

Wagner Select Students

Wagner Select students are required to sign a contract agreeing to maintain academic excellence throughout the duration of their college careers. They understand that the onus is on them to maintain a communication flow with their mentor teams, including semester updates on their academic performance and/or challenges they are facing. Wagner Select students also understand that participating in the program is a privilege and a tremendous, potentially life-changing opportunity.

The Selection Process
Wagner Select students undergo two rounds of selection beginning with an application process implemented through the Center for Academic & Career Engagement. The group selected via application also have an interview with Ms. Tara Chiari to discuss their career plans. In the pilot program, the best students in the Nicolais School of Business were selected via applications by CACE and then further vetted through the Nicolais School of Business Wagner Select Committee. Committee members include Dr. Cathyann Tully, Director of Undergraduate Studies, and Dr. Donald L. Crooks.
